Important Health Warning: Photosensitive Seizures

A very small percentage of people may experience a seizure when exposed to certain visual images, including flashing lights or patterns that may appear in video games. Even people with no history of seizures or epilepsy may have an undiagnosed condition that can cause “photosensitive epileptic seizures” while watching video games. Symptoms can include light-headedness, altered vision, eye or face twitching, jerking or shaking of arms or legs, disorientation, confusion, momentary loss of awareness, and loss of consciousness or convulsions that can lead to injury from falling down or striking nearby objects. Immediately stop playing and consult a doctor if you experience any of these symptoms. Parents, watch for or ask children about these symptoms—children and teenagers are more likely to experience these seizures. The risk may be reduced by being farther from the screen; using a smaller screen; playing in a well-lit room, and not playing when drowsy or fatigued. If you or any relatives have a history of seizures or epilepsy, consult a doctor before playing.

GAMEPLAY

To make a yarn bridge, attach yarn between two nearby, attachable points. A successful bridge will begin to sparkle, meaning it can be used to carry objects or as a walkway. Bridges can also be used as slingshots to launch Yarny into the air by flicking 🕹.

Grab Yarny's yarn tail to break a fall by pulling 🕹. You can swing or climb the yarn tail by moving 🕹.

Pull and hold 🕹 and 🕹 to grab onto both ends of the yarn, and then move 🕹 to climb in either direction. This allows you to climb carefully through dangerous areas.
